Pullman Trails & Pathways

A guide to the trails and paths in and around Pullman

The trails and pathways of Pullman meander through the community, tying together the downtown, Washington State University, residential areas and even our neighboring towns of Moscow and Troy. The Pullman Parks and Recreation trail system encompasses almost 8 miles of paths including Downtown Riverwalk, Terre View, Koppel Farm, City Playfields, and the recently completed Johnson Road Spur.

The pathways also connect with the Bill Chipman Palouse Trail, a 7-mile trail that connects Pullman to Moscow, Idaho. From Moscow segue on to the Paradise Path and continue through Moscow to the Latah Trail. The Latah Trail continues on 11 miles to Troy through the beautiful rolling hills of the Palouse.

Stroll, run or bike along these trails and pathways past parks, creeks, fields, over bridges and through downtown Pullman and experience the beauty of Pullman and the Palouse from a new perspective.
